

Shannon Jakoby

Marina Office Manager for the Dillon Marina, Town of Dillon, Colorado

Shannon moved to Colorado from Oregon in 1999 and joined the Dillon Marina team in 2005. Prior to coming on board to help manage the marina, she worked in the British Virgin Islands as both a certified Dive Master and Yacht Charter Chef, alongside her husband Gregg. Off the water she managed the office and retail department for the diving and sailing organization. This experience inspired her to combine her love of the marine environment with her desire to live back in the Mountains of Colorado. The Dillon Marina has been the perfect fit and home ever since.

With the marina, Shannon is able to utilize her Oregon “tree-hugging” roots and has set out to create an eco-friendly marina. She spends much of her winter season participating in seminars and courses geared toward mastering social media marketing and electronic business solutions, which has allowed the company to reduce unnecessary resources and connect more directly and frequently with their customers. She fine-tunes her business skills throughout the year, attending business boot camps and International Marina Conferences, always learning new ways to bring people and their love of boating together, while providing the highest level of customer service. She also serves on the Town of Dillon Benefits & Wellness Committees which allows her to help her co-workers and promote a healthy lifestyle throughout the town.

When she is not at the marina, Shannon can be found hiking and skiing Colorado’s back country with her husband, her son Noah, and Quito, the family dog. And when they are not knee-deep in snow, they can be found diving the warm waters of Mexico, which helps them endure the long Colorado winters and satisfies their love of travel.

Shannon can be reached at the marina throughout the year by calling 970-468-5100 x-105 or emailing shannonj@dillonmarina.com.
